

- 1 Formal financial model audit
- 2 Independent model review
- 3 Analytical review

How much would a modelling error cost you?

Corality's model audit services reduce the risk of modelling errors and fulfill the requirements of financiers, investors and stakeholders.

- 4 Tax and accounting review
- 5 Verification of model documentation
- 6 Best practice modelling review

Corality model audit services

The Corality audit team are expert model auditors, with wide ranging experience across all major sectors coupled with global banking credentials. We offer a consultative approach, highly experienced staff, rigorous procedures and efficient communication of results. Our comprehensive suite of model audit services includes:

Formal financial model audit - we know what banks and investors require

Corality's model audit procedures are accepted by global banks. We work across a wide range of areas including Project Finance / PPP / PFI, M&A, Investments and Private Equity. We offer quick turnaround times and efficient communication - we have built our business based on perfect delivery, every time.

Independent model review - we help you increase the confidence in your models

The risk of errors in financial or operational models is significant due to a lack of external review and shared ownership between individuals and teams. To increase confidence in your models it is imperative to perform an independent review prior to making strategically important business decisions.

Analytical review - we help you find costly mistakes before it's too late

A high level analytical review of a financial model is a time and cost efficient approach to finding major mistakes before it is too late. During the review, Corality can act as a 'sounding board' on a commercial level to increase the confidence in your projections.

Tax and accounting review - we provide international expertise

Corality's qualified accountants can assist with the verification of tax and accounting back to source documents. Additionally, we can draw on our broad experience and well established relationships with global tax and accounting firms to provide local expertise.

Verification of model documentation - we verify source documentation

Many structured finance investments are based heavily upon detailed documentation, contracts and agreements. Corality assists clients in verifying that all documents have been correctly reflected in the financial models, adding critical trust to the modelling process.

Best practice review - we help you improve your financial models for years to come

Corality's financial modelling experts provide clients with practical advice on how to improve the integrity, flexibility and presentation of their financial models. We want you to build better models.

The Corality advantage

Our experience – we are expert model auditors

Corality's model audits have been relied upon by global banks, company boards and major construction firms. Our global clients trust us with multi-billion dollar transactions and critical investments.

Specialist team – we are thought leaders in the world of financial modelling

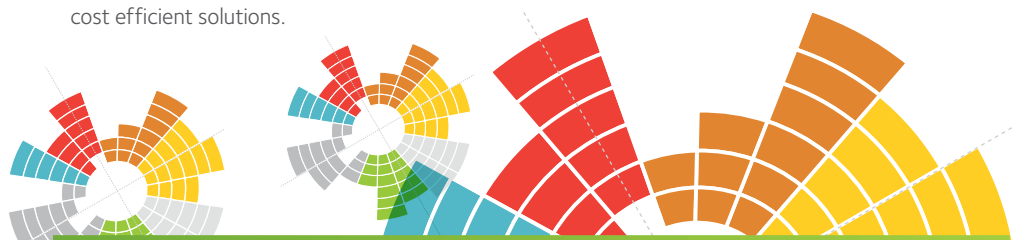

Corality offers the full package – we build, audit and train people in financial modelling. Our dedicated model audit team consists of consultants with backgrounds in accounting, actuarial, mathematics, banking, strategy and corporate finance. This allows us to bring industry specific knowledge and practical expertise to the model audit process. We fully understand the requirements of the transaction banking environment and provide real impact on the transaction outcome.

International presence – we work globally

With offices in London, Melbourne, Singapore and Sydney, Corality can work with you wherever you are regardless of time zones and geographic locations. Our client base spans a wide range of industries; from banking and finance, construction and development through to retail and corporate clients.

Cost efficient solutions – we work with you on your terms

Corality offers flexible engagement terms, fixed fees and hourly rates. We tailor the scope of the project to suit your budget, putting you in total control. This ensures perfect client fit and cost efficient solutions.

Best practice modelling – we model the SMART way

Corality's financial modelling methodology, SMART, is a set of best practice guidelines, internationally applauded for effective and professional financial modelling. The SMART approach to modelling meets the needs of analysts, decision makers, financiers, management and financial stakeholders. It decreases model risk and increases the confidence of all users – it helps people build better models.

Corality Financial Group is a full service analytical consulting firm. We offer the industry's most complete set of analytical consulting, training and advisory services.

The Corality audit team are expert model auditors with model auditing credentials from global banks and wide ranging experience across all major sectors globally. We offer:

- Model audit credentials from global banks
- Specialist model audit team
- Best practice modelling
- Cost efficient solutions

www.corality.com